

Seasons Greetings

Let There Be Light

If you are like most people, you're wrapping presents at the last minute. Recycling at Christmas is easy if you reuse what you already have.

Here's a "green" package tie that's fast and easy. Save the burned out light bulbs from your string of Christmas lights. Write the name of the recipient with a fancy gold pen or a permanent marker.

Tie ribbons around the bulbs. You can make a trio or a single one works too. I used some left over tinsel ribbon with wire, but you can use whatever you have around the house. You might need a drop of glue to make sure the bulbs stay in place. Instead of buying fancy paper, reuse tissue paper from last year's gifts and this wrap is practically free!

Not only are you recycling, but once the gift is open, they make cute ornaments when hung on the tree.

Have a very Merry Christmas and a Wonderful New Year!

Merri
